KATINI SKIN
COLLAGEN FACIAL OIL
SQUALANE • WHEAT CERM • HONEYBUSH
1.7 OZ. / 50 ML

Growing up across three different continents, I was able to experience and learn beauty secrets from women around the world. A source of constant inspiration for me is the attention to subtle details from Japan - the land of the rising sun, the depth and wisdom of Mother Africa - the cradle of humankind, and the sacred richness from the soil of Australia - the land down under. Our ingredients are from natural, wild harvested and organic flora from around the globe. We are strongly committed to sustainability and giving back.

Black Progress Matters

Katini Skin has received initial funding from the Black Progress Matters Black-Owned Business Incubator Program. Black Progress Matters's core mission is to change the color of leadership in organizations worldwide through its various executive staffing activities. BPM is built on the premise that if BPM can secure the opportunity to fill an executive opening for an organization with the best candidate [who is a person of color], BPM will begin to change the color of the executive [or ownership] suite while enhancing the aspiration of everyone of color within the organization.

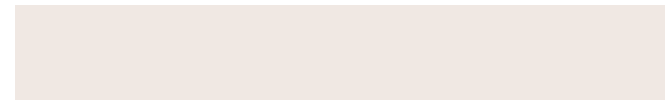

Developing successful Black-ownership is an essential component of BPM's core mission to change the color of the executive suite and ownership of organizations worldwide. And Katini Skin is paving the way for diverse founders' success in the beauty & wellness category.

About Katini

Katini Skin was founded by Katini Yamaoka. Katini's cultural heritage and upbringing is interwoven through Japan, Africa and Australia. Raised plant-based from birth, and educated at a neo-humanistic school, Katini was gifted with an understanding of natural healing from a very young age. Going from the dense Australian rainforest to the cosmopolitan metropolis of New York as a working artist has given Katini an intrinsic understanding of wellness and design. Katini's dedication to her artistry has allowed her to travel the world performing for organizations such as Forbes 30 Under 30 to the United Nations Australia. Katini resides in New York and is dedicated to representing empowerment through her voice and platform.
